I am a professional leader and team player exhibiting outstanding motivational and presentational skills. I take pleasure in exercising my analytical and articulate right brain. Colleagues of mine have noted their appreciation for my interpersonal skills. A background in physical fitness and personal training will keep me well tuned for demanding projects. I have an ability to work effectively with people of various ages, cultural backgrounds, and socioeconomic statuses. My long-time interest in science and physical well-being keeps my world amusing.

With 16 years of experience in administrative duties, social media marketing, clothing manufacturing, design technology and UAV operation, I'm well equipped for any challenge. I come with a broad range of skill sets, such as construction, website management, and hospitality. I am organized, with the demonstrated ability to manage complex workloads and meet deadlines. Simply put, I will get the job done the right way.
